

Classical Viennese Festival 2022 Participation Rules, Information, and Application

Overview

The Seattle International Piano Festival (SIPF) is proud to present the tenth annual Classical Viennese Festival (recorded video edition) for pianists and string performers. Participants of any nationality may participate. This competitive event was created to showcase classical and pre-classical sonata forms. Important for clarity and formal understanding, the sonata and related classical forms are often neglected or underrepresented in competitive events, and to provide performers with constructive feedback from performing and teaching masters. Participants will receive educational evaluations by performing for adjudicators, and a chance to receive certificates and medals during this competitive event.

This festival sets forth a number of age groups, as well as several narrowly defined performance categories so that they may be fairly judged, and generously decorated.

The festival separates all age divisions and groups into competitive and noncompetitive subdivisions. The noncompetitive subdivision has been created to encourage more participants who wish to pursue the festival for purely educational reasons, for a chance to receive feedback from adjudicators, or for those who may be participating for the first time in such an event. Noncompetitive participants may wish to use the opportunity to “wet their toes” with regard to a competitive experience, perhaps selecting a competitive option during future festivals. Noncompetitive participants will not have their video links published.

Participants must be the required age as of March 27, 2022. There is no set limit regarding the number of students that a single teacher may submit. Likewise, teachers are in no way required to provide any volunteer assistance or pay any fee in order to submit students. Participants may choose to participate in more than one group; however, a separate accompanying application form and fee is required for each instance of participation.

The organizers reserve the right to divide exceptionally large groups into smaller sub-divisions based on age or any other criteria to help make participation more equitable. The organizers also reserve the right to reject applications that are incomplete or fail to adhere to the rules, standards, or style delineation; this can occur at any point during the festival period without prior notification. It is the sole responsibility of the participant to ensure completeness. No opportunity to re-submit will be offered after the deadline. All participants will receive an automated confirmation message with complete application info. The SIFP takes no responsibility for application transmission errors.
